

Pitchford Estate - Shropshire

This incredible historical Grade 1 property comes steeped in history. It is considered to be one of the finest Elizabethan properties in the UK Pitchford was the subject of the TV series Saving Country Houses with Penelope Keith. The property is being lovingly restored by the present owners after being neglected for 25 years. This process is continuing so there are some interesting derelicts areas in addition to the fascinating interiors with period features.

1917-1931. The first recorded photo of the property comes steeped in history. It is considered to be one of the finest Elizabethan properties in the UK. Pitchford was the subject of the TV series Carol Hayes Management

