

Corfton Manor Shropshire

Corfton Manor is a lovely Queen Anne Manor House, near Ludlow in the heart of South Shropshire, three hours from London. It is surrounded by an herbaceous garden with tennis court and riding stables. The house boasts many large rooms set on three floors with high ceilings and period features including original floorboards, fireplaces and ceiling cornices. It is decorated in a bold contemporary colour palette complemented with an eclectic mix of 20th century furniture and art work to give it a contemporary sophisticated twist. There are high ceilings and large georgian windows throughout the property making it suitable for film and photography.
